LEE CHALLENGES AUTHORITY OF RAILWAY LABOR BOARD

Head of Railway Trainmen Defiant at Opening Session of "Peace Conference" in Chicago--Questions Right of Authorities to Even Investigate the Strike.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, Oct. 26.—A Coliseum, Chicago, Oct. 26.—A virtual challenge on the authority of the United States Railway Labor Board to order the threatened railway strike called off, or even to investigate the strike, was hurled by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, at the first session of the "peace conference" here today.

Lee intimated that the brotherhoods were willing to have the authority of the labor board to intervene in the present controversy tested in the courts.

"It is our understanding of the law," Lee said, "that after the board has heard a dispute and made a decision to accept or reject either party to accept or reject the decision. As we understand it, it was the privilege of the men to leave the service if they felt unwilling to accept the board's wage cut decision."

"A test in the courts might show otherwise, but that remains our understanding until such a test is made."

Lee was questioned by Ben W. Hooper, public member of the board, who made it evident that the board was trying to place the brotherhoods on record that they had called the strike on an issue that had not yet materialized and the real issue was further wage reductions that had not yet come before the board.

Lee declared the original strike action of the trainmen had been taken on the question of the wage cut ordered by the labor board on July 1, but said that he would show that the question of future wage cuts and the issue of time and one-half for overtime, entered the controversy.

While questioning of Lee was still in progress the hearing adjourned until 2 o'clock.

WAGE REDUCTION IN GARMENT TRADE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 26.—Fifty-five thousand garment workers today faced wage cuts and longer working hours, as a result of a decision reached by 300 manufacturers of women's clothing at a meeting here. The manufacturers will put the new schedule into effect November 14.

The employers decided to break their agreement with the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and return to a piece work basis instead of the present week work plan.

Union leaders declared they would fight the manufacturers' decision to prevent a return to "sweatshop" conditions existing before adoption of the weekly wage plan.

Reports to telegraph companies were that a fifty-mile gale still was whistling over the state.

The Southern Bell Telephone Company lost all its wires to Gainesville early today.

South of Plant City automobiles are carrying Western Union messages to southern destinations.

SEVEN MISSING OF SCHOONER CREW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chatham, Mass., Oct. 26.—Seven members of the crew of the four-masted schooner Henry S. Keger, which went aground on Pollock Rip Shoals, off the Monomoy Point life saving station today, are missing and the vessel is a total loss.

The seven, numbering six negro deck hands and a white cook, left the vessel in a small motor launch against the orders of Captain C. L. Joyce. The other members of the crew were taken off the stricken schooner by boats from the life saving station.

Captain Joyce said that when last seen the missing men were drifting in the direction of Nantucket. He said a revenue cutter had been sent in search of them.

The Henry S. Keger was owned by the Keger Navigation Company of New York.

COLLECTED $25 WITH REVOLVER

Of His Landlady, Mrs. Cioni of Catherine Street—Held To Await Examination As To Sanity—Once Charged With Murder, But Was Pardoned By Governor.

Pietro Ortale, an Italian resident of this city, was placed under arrest Tuesday evening by Officers Robert and Urban Healey at the request of Mrs. Vincenza Cioni of No. 263 Catherine street, where Pietro was a boarder. It developed that Pietro is accused of going to his boarding house and kicking in a door, and then flourishing a revolver compelling Mrs. Cioni to contribute $25 to his funds. When searched at police headquarters that night $20 was found on his person in addition to the revolver and a number of loaded shells.

Ortale has been in trouble before, and was found guilty by a jury of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to life imprisonment. This was the famous Fortersville murder case where the body of a missing child was found in an out house there.

District Attorney Cunningham tried the case. Pietro served seven years in prison, and was then pardoned by Governor Whitman on the application of Attorney A. J. Cook, who presented a letter written by Judge Cunningham in which the judge consented to the granting of the pardon.

Pietro has been out of prison about three years.

Judge Schirick said that to his mind there was some doubt as to Pietro's sanity and so that an investigation could be made by the district attorney's office he would fix the bail at $2,000 to avoid the likelihood of any one bailing Pietro out of the county jail until the physicians could examine him, and the hearing was adjourned until November 4.

The charge lodge against Pietro this morning is that of robbery in the first degree, and carries with it a penalty of twenty years in prison if convicted.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS ROOSEVELT DAY

Citizens of Kingston:
The anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, the twenty-sixth president of the United States, occurs on Thursday, October twenty-seventh.

He thought great things. He said great things. He did great things. He was a great American. He was a great man.

The inspiration of his life should not be lost. It should be inculcated in the minds of all of young America.

In order that this historic event may be properly observed, let us display his picture, and unfurl our flag to the lustre and glory of which he added so much, and read and think of him.

Remember these parts of his last message read at a meeting on the night during which his great spirit passed on:

"I cannot be with you and so all I can do is to wish you God-speed."

"There must be no sagging back in the fight for Americanism."

"There can be no divided allegiance."

"We have room in this country for but one flag, the Stars and Stripes, and we should tolerate no allegiance to any other flag, whether a foreign flag, the red flag, or the black flag. We have room for but one loyalty, loyalty to the United States."

"We have room for but one language, the language of Washington and Lincoln."

"We have room for but one soul loyalty and that is loyalty to the American people."

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty-sixth day of October, nineteen hundred twenty-one.

PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor.

Complimentary Dinner.

The complimentary roast beef dinner to be given to the men of St. James' Church Monday evening promises to be the biggest thing ever. It is expected that there will be lots of men, lots of food and lots of fun. If these expectations are not realized it will be through no fault of the committee in charge of the affair. If any of the men of the church or congregation have failed to get a personal invitation it is simply that they have been overlooked in some way, and such should get in touch with W. F. Dedrick or Newton H. Fessenden not later than Friday of this week. This is intended to be an inclusive, not an exclusive affair.

Troopsmen to Dance.

This evening at St. Mary's School Hall the motormen and conductors will hold their dance. A large number of tickets have been sold and a good attendance is looked for. Baile's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing, which assures all dance lovers an enjoyable evening.

N. Y. MAIL BANDITS GOT $1,000,000

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 26.—No trace had been found by Federal authorities and local police today of the three bandits who held up a mail truck on lower Broadway Monday night and escaped in an automobile with five pouches of registered mail, valued at close to one million dollars.

A checking up disclosed that five sacks of registered matter was taken, instead of four as at first announced.

One of the pouches taken was said to have been heavily laden with currency, and, according to the story told postoffice inspectors by the driver of the truck, Frank Haveranack, this was the first one picked out by the bandits.

A general description of the work may be given as follows:

The Home Service Section of the American Red Cross gives aid and counsel to families of men serving in every branch of the army and navy, and to disabled men and women after their discharge from the service. It also gives legal advice and information regarding pay, small allowances, separation allowances, vocational training, medical treatment, compensation, insurance, employment, and other subjects that may interest the ex-service man and his family.

RACE PROBLEM ONE FOR WHOLE WORLD TO CONSIDER AND SOLVE SAYS HARDING

Equal Opportunity in Politics, Business and Education With Absolute Divergence Racially and Socially the Basis for Solution, He Tells Southern Audience.

LOCAL RED CROSS WORK REVIEWED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Birmingham, Alabama, Oct. 26.—Straight into the heart of the Democratic south with its millions of negroes, President Harding came today with a frank and stirring message dealing with the race problem.

The time has passed, the president said, when the problem of race is of concern only to the south, or even to the United States. It has now become a world problem, he declared, and he suggested that it can be best dealt with by recognizing these fundamentals:

1—That the negro be accorded equal opportunity in matters of politics, business and education and

2—That there be absolute divergence racially and socially, each race with its own traditions, ideals, etc.

"Surely," said the president, "we shall gain nothing by blinking at the facts, by refusing to give thought to them. That is not the American way of approaching such issues."

President Harding spoke to a great audience of southerners gathered in Capital Park at the celebration of Birmingham's 50th birthday. It followed a parade through the city and his speech dealt entirely with the industrial south and its problems.

"Men of both races," continued the president, "may well stand uncompromisingly against every suggestion of social equality. It would be helpful to have that word 'equality' eliminated from this consideration; to have it accepted on both sides that this is not a question of social equality but a question of recognizing a fundamental, eternal and inescapable difference."

"Politically and economically, there need be no occasion for great and permanent differentiation, for limitations of the individual's opportunity, provided that on both sides there shall be recognition of the absolute divergence in things social and racial."

"I would say let the black man vote when he is fit to vote; prohibit the white man voting when he is unfit to vote."

"I wish that both the tradition of solidly Democratic south and the tradition of a solidly Republican black race might be broken up."

"I want to see the time come when black men will vote for Democratic candidates. If they prefer the Democratic policy on tariff or taxation, or foreign relations, or whatever; and when they will vote the Republican ticket for like reasons."

"We cannot go on, as we have gone for more than half a century, with one great section of our population, numbering as many people as the entire population of some significant countries of Europe set off from the rest by contribution to solving our national issues, because of a division on race lines."

The president turned his audience that the south must do something educationally for the negro, and not make its black population "a vast reservoir of ignorance to be drained away by the processes of immigration to other sections." The growing industrialism of the south, he said, will not permit this if the south is to continue to prosper.

In speaking of education, the president said, he had had no sympathy with "half baked altruism" that would overstock the country with doctors and lawyers and leave no laborers.

"We are under necessity to raise honest, hard, manual work to a new dignity if we are to get it done," he said, pointing to the fact that the restricted immigration has cut off the supply of "common labor."

The president paid high tribute to the growth and resources of the south industrially.

A Chance to Think.

In an effort to bring the quota of the Twenty-seventh Division to its peace time strength, which is 21,000, a detachment making a state wide campaign arrived in this city Tuesday noon, under command of Colonel Waterbury. All those desiring to enlist will make application at the armory. In the return of this detachment applicants will be afforded transportation to New York City, where they will be examined in the 47th Regiment Armory.

HAMBURG AMERICAN BOND.
NORTH-GERMAN LLOYD STEAMSHIP BOND.

Two of Germany's highest grade securities and two of the most famous steamship companies covering the globe.

A limited amount of these standard gilt-edged securities are to be sold in Kingston on the easy plan. Look over the record of these securities, ask any well-informed investor of the earning capacity of these lines and their splendid record of dividend paying—see what the increased capacity of the equipment now owned will mean—then mail the coupon on the bottom of this column or phone 596 for further detail.

You will never have another opportunity to "get in" on such an absolutely gilt-edged investment as is offered you right now. We sincerely believe that this is the opportunity of a life-time, and we urgently advise you to take advantage of this great offer.

About This Investment

The Hamburg-American Steamship Company was incorporated in 1847, and its assets amount to about $800,000,000. Although the war tended to suspend active operations of the company for a period of over two years, nevertheless the company ran true to form and paid its dividends regularly. IT HAS NEVER DEFERRED OR DEFAULTED AND NEVER WILL!

Having again resumed operations, the company has entered into a very profitable agreement with the UNITED AMERICAN LINES, a steamship company controlled by the HARRIMAN INTERESTS, also has formed an agreement with the Russian Government whereby the entire shipping trade into and out of the Baltic Ports of Russia has been handed over to the HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINES. What this means in the way of profits to the investor is unlimited.

The North-German Lloyd Steamship Company was organized in 1856, and together with the Hamburg-American Lines, became one of the very largest companies of its kind. The FINANCIAL POSITION OF THIS COMPANY IS VERY STRONG. It may also be said of the North-German Lloyd Company, that during the suspension of business in the year 19-20, the company declared regular dividends, thus showing the tremendous earning power of her 117 first-class sea-going steamers, and her auxiliary fleet of 230 minor craft. The early part of the year of 1921 finds the company has resumed complete operations, and is now in a strong position to handle the ever-increasing trade of Germany with the outside world.

DATA FOR COMPARISON

THE FOLLOWING TABLE IS A RELIABLE INDICATION OF HOW QUICKLY THE NORTH-GERMAN LLOYD HAS COME BACK:

Years	Net Earnings	Dividends Paid	% Paid	% Earned
1919	M19,700,000	M10,000,000	8%	15.76%
1920	M22,400,000	M10,000,000	8%	17.90%

STEAMSHIP LINES AMONG FIRST TO REFLECT INDUSTRIAL PROSPERITY

THE NORTH-GERMAN LLOYD will spontaneously reflect the Industrial Prosperity upon which Germany now enters. Germany's steamship lines are the arteries of her Foreign trade. Her Merchant Marine is perhaps the most vital link in the vast chain of her industrial enterprises. Her ships are so many grappling hooks, as it were, which tie up the Foreign Markets abroad with Germany's productive centers at home. They must be maintained and operated efficiently and no phase of industrial activity in Germany can prosper without benefiting proportionately the great carriers of her merchandise.

INTEREST ON BONDS PAID DURING WAR

THE BEST THAT CAN BE SAID in favor of this issue is that throughout the war and during the uncertain period which followed, the North-German Lloyd, with its ships idle, was able to meet the interest payments on its bonds regularly.

New York World says in its news columns on Friday, October 7, 1921

STINNES IS BUYING STOCK OF NORTH GERMAN LLOYD

Berlin, Oct. 7.—Hugo Stinnes has recently been buying heavily of stock of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company to secure himself an authoritative influence in the organization, according to Hamburg dispatches. These quote administrative quarters of the organization as protesting against the rumors that an agreement with Herr Stinnes had been reached.

It is admitted, however, that Stinnes is planning an important expansion of his shipping interests. North German Lloyd shares have been going up steadily since his activities have become known.

Stinnes is Germany's Rockefeller—he knows all about these securities and his judgment should help you decide as to their value to you.

New York American says in its news columns of October 17, 1921

5 VESSELS TO PANAMA, HAMBURG-AMERICAN PLAN

Julius P. Meyers, American representative of the Hamburg-American Line, said that four, and perhaps five, steamers will be used by the company in maintaining the monthly sailings between Germany and the Panama Canal region. The line is entirely independent of the United American Lines, he said, and is not covered by the agreement between the two companies.

The first sailing will be made by the Antiochia on November 15, and will be followed by the Amassia, Andalia and Eupatoria. These vessels were built originally for the Levant service, but the company decided that the trans-Atlantic business offered more opportunities for profit. The ships range from 5,000 to 6,000 tons each.

Put a flower beside a stove or over a hot-air register. Watch it wither and droop. You will understand then why florists insist upon beautiful hot-water warmth for their plants instead of dry, willing heat air.

Do you care as much for your babies as a florist cares for his flowers?

EVERY florist knows this: Flowers which will thrive in air warmed by hot-water radiators will wilt in the heat from a hot-air furnace or stove.

Warm, moist air builds health; hot, dry air undermines it.

Have you ever considered these facts in their relation to the winter health of your babies?

The American Radiator Company considered them when conducting the scientific experiments that produced ARCOLA.

You simply must see ARCOLA. It is new and different. Built by the Company whose larger heating plants warm mansions, cathedrals and even the White House itself, it is guaranteed to be the most perfect hot-water heating outfit for small homes and stores which science has produced.

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (you used to call him Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window. It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a very great deal.

SOME EXTREMES IN NEW STYLES

Knicker and Soft Chiffons Are Among the Latest Fashion Offerings.

VELVET WRAPS ARE DESIGNED

Long and Beautiful Coats With Wide and Flowing Sleeves; Linings Are Rare Combinations of Elegance.

Fast extremes of preference are being exhibited by the American woman her choice of clothing. And, observing a prominent fashion writer, she can say that she is not showing degree of originality hardly expected from her by some of the more skeptical. There are the knickers once again to maintain climbing, and among the courageous few at all. Now they are agitating the question of wearing knickers for all business occasions. The hobbled-hair and the short-skirted miss are completely cast into the shadow for practical purposes when it comes to suggested departure.

In the Far West, where mountain riding and horseback riding are the main things for women, the knicker has found much favor, and there are women in their "colorful" tweeds and woolen stockings are numerous.
Of course, the sporting goods stores have been selling knickers for some time past, and with a degree of success, but they hardly anticipated that they would be setting the style for city clothes.
It is said, as yet, that this is not the case, but there is a real tendency in that direction, for women have become to agitate the idea, and when that happened, there is no telling how or how the controversy will end, as so when the short skirt started its career.

Knicker Made of Homespuns.
The smartest of the knicker suits are made of those rough-and-ready home-spuns which have been worn and loved a season or more. The bright colors, and the more somber ones, are used to make the suits with trousers and skirts. The knickers reach down the knees, where they are full and blousy, looking akin to golf trousers, and are met by very "spiffy" woolen stockings. The more showable ones among them are supplied with suit coats, but there are also made with capes for accompaniment—modest capes that can be tucked about the figure; almost if quite disguising the fact that knickers are there at all. They are very plain in tailoring and cut, and they are so loose and unfitted in style that they suggest sweet retiring things compared with the smart dresses to which our eyes have become accustomed on the summer streets. There is nothing unusually about these new outdoor costumes, but some one will declare them becoming. Then will another fashion light be staged, which will be exactly good for the fashion, but obviously cannot realize the fact.

In contrast to this mode of mannish living there are the soft, clinging suits which have forced their subtle way upon us until they have become

Exaggerated Sleeve Carried to Its Farthest Limit.

part of our dressing. All that hardness and that steel construction look is being slowly but surprisingly eliminated, and if you want evidence of this all you need to do is to visit any of the smart places for dress making to appreciate the fact that women's clothes are becoming more clinging and more graceful and less substantiated in style. The reason for this state of affairs is not that it is interesting to accompany the women in general, are leading to the softer type and decidedly "hard" creations, which are anything but flattering to female figure.

Not in Bargaining Class.
American women, on one clever designer's part, are not in the bargaining class. Through the cold months the best they will do is to make a few things, from warm wrappers to warm bedclothes. They are not so much supplied with furs that they can keep out the biting blast during the winter months, and therefore they wear what they will, and they will wear soft, flowery lines most appropriate to their beauty. But these soft satif and silk and chiffon gowns are not the dressy things that once they were, being designed for occasions surrounded by formality.

No, they are as plain as plain can be,
and are only for one part of the day.

Frocks of Heavy Silk Crepe Draped and Slightly Fitted.

They could not be used by the hardy business woman when pattering about the streets—and this chiefly because their peculiarly soft and flowing lines would not adapt themselves to ordinary wear and tear.

See all the gowns that the American designers are making for daytime wear. They will astound you by the beauty and simplicity which are their alluring characteristics. Do not think that they take little material. They are draped and folded so miraculously that one fails to see where all the long pleatures are hidden. One pleat is piled upon another, and altogether they are drawn into drapings and folds conveying the impression they represent one plain and simple line.
Upon examination, one finds that layers upon layers make up this effect, and accomplished in so artistic and workmanlike a manner that, for the magic of neoclassicism, it has any previous sleight-of-hand trick wiped off the map.

For the coming season the American woman has chosen to be chifony and slinking in her general appearance, and anyone who follows this general rule will not be going far astray. If she cannot afford furs, the loveliest of wraps have been designed for her outside covering. There are capes and beautiful coats with wide and flowing sleeves that cannot be distinguished from wraps, luxuriously interlined, and the visible linings are things to conjure with, so colorful and soft are they. A wrap lining this year is a thing to be studied with reverence. It being no simple matter, but a combination of silk and chiffon, and glit edgings, and bits of lace—anything that will add to an ensemble to make that wrap look as though it were designed to snuggle around the shoulders of a fairy princess. The colors and the materials vie with each other in adding a modicum of charm.
For street and restaurant wear there are tints of dust, and sand, and taupe, and dark gray, and putty color and any of those tones, even unto elephant's breath, which defy description as to just what shades go to make them distinguished. They are backgrounds of beauty, so to speak, rather than adornments of that same feminine characteristic.

Brocaded Silks Are in Favor.
Brocaded silks are making the greatest hit with dressmakers designing new frocks. They are all in one tone, the figure being woven in satin threads, while the background is devised from less lustrous strands. Or the idea can be reversed; the material turned the wrong side and you have a material that has a satin background with its pattern woven in crepe threads. The advantage of this material is that it is all silk, and is possessed of the greatest amount of weight, which, for those never dresses, is a really necessary attribute. They must cling, while pleasantly full;
and, added to all this, they must present the appearance of being quite straight-lined in character. If you consider, this is not a small order, but one that is being accomplished by our leading designers in a manner truly beautiful and greatly to be honored for the art that fashions it.

THE HAT TO WEAR

Styles for Stout, Short, Slender and Other Types.

Stiff Monotonous Edge Not Becoming to Many Persons—Headgear for the Children.

When choosing a hat consider well
the following points:

A stout woman, generally speaking, must wear a wider brim than the slender one, since width in the brim and height in the crown will tend to overbalance roundness of the face.
The short, slender woman with a small face should almost never wear a hat with a brim averaging more than three to three and a half inches in width.

The long-faced woman, especially if she is tall, should avoid the tall crowned or tall trimmed hat. She may, however, wear a wider brimmed hat than the short, slender woman.

The tall stout woman is often stunning in a large brimmed hat, because her height makes it possible for her to wear a hat which would make the short, stout woman appear grotesque.
Hats with mushroom brims belong entirely to youth. Downward turning lines in the face are not desirable, and should therefore not be emphasized by downward turning lines in brims or hats.

For the person who wears glasses, hard lines and edges in hats should be studiously avoided. An edge may be softened by a bias fold, a ribbon slightly filled, or a band of fur.

A hat with a stiff monotonous edge is not likely to be becoming to many persons, especially to those who are no longer young.

The most successful child's hat is the soft, pliable kind which may be pulled down on the head and subjected to more or less rough treatment without very materially injuring its looks and wearing qualities.
Stiff, fussy hats have no place in the wardrobe of the child.

For every-day wear, a tam-o-shanter made from old dress skirts, coats, or other woolen materials will serve well.

FUR-TRIMMED MODEL

One of the smart models for fall wear is this blue serge frock. Trimmed with narrow bands of krimmer.

THE TAILORED SPORT WAIST

Severe Shirts are Extremely Smart With Autumn Suits Couched on Mannish Lines.

Sport waists are mostly of tub fabrics and mannish, severe shirts are extremely smart with autumn sport suits on mannish lines. One blouse is made of striped shirting of the sort this is used for men's custom-made shirts of aristocratic character. The collar, turning over from a neckband, is the very latest thing and nothing could be smarter. A loosely knotted silk cravat, or a sternly mannish fur-lined one will be worn with this collar.
Another sport blouse is more feminine and its dainty freshness is most characteristic. It is made of tan and white striped linen, with plain white linen collar, cuff and front panel. These sport blouses come also in blue and white, green-and-white, and red-and-white stripes.

Blouse Peculiar.

The popular jumper dress has created an unusual demand for the net sleeve blouse, and many of the shops are featuring extensive displays where women can pick out pretty models at exceptionally low prices. Among these the round collar seems to be dominant and it is quite noticeable that these blouses and jumpers are cut higher at the neck than we have worn them for some time. This may be a forerunner of the high neck which has been accepted by fashion and will, in all probability, soon be adopted by us, not because we like it, but because we must be in style.

THE OLD SWEATER MADE NEW

Ravel Out Pannic Garments, Cleanse Wool and Make New Articles for Cold Weather.

A well-made woollen sweater will last years and years; but styles in sweaters change rapidly nowadays, and long before the current you knitted with infinite pains has worn out its lines and style have become passe.
It is always a pity to waste good wool and in half a morning you can have out the queer garment, reward the wool, and make ready to start a new sweater, or you can turn your old sweater into a smart or a pretty new article.

The first attempt to knit the new sweater until you have worked the wool to get the bulk out of it "knitted-up" sweater will not make a comfortable, beautiful knitted surface and a pays to purchase your wanted new fully before you start. As you ravel out the wool, which is over a shoulder and make a wide band of seakins each skin as full as you can and it is always a pity to break or lose wool. Be sure and tie the skin firmly at both ends with a bit of worsted or white string. If you do not do this you may get into a sad snarl with your wet wool.

Lay the skin in a basin of tepid water; press it down well until it is thoroughly wet; then squeeze out the water and hang the skin to dry in the open air—but never in strong sunshine. Cut away the tied string at the lower end of the hanging skin and loosen the strands of worsted, to assist the drying process. Your sweater will dry overnight, or in a few hours outdoors on a bright day.
When it is quite dry, stretch the skin over a chairback and wind the wool into neat balls.

FASHION NOTES IN BRIEF

A favored Parisian combination is purple and cerise.
The Spanish sailor will be extremely good this fall.
Large fur cuffs on the new wrappers serve as a muff.

Flare is a very pretty and appropriate trimming for undergarments.
A feature much talked of for fall is the shoulder-to-shoulder panel at the back.

Satin large are appearing. Those in the new fall designs are in all-black and sometimes in color finish.

Fur and ostrich are used quite extensively in trimming many of the handsome evening and dinner gowns.
Georgette continues to be the most used fabric for dresses, playing a strong role both in the elaborate and dressy models and trimmings are just about as varied as they well can be.

Black has not invaded the wool facile field to the extent that it has the silk field, and especially when sporting semi-sports frocks are under consideration bright colors seem to be in high favor.

French Evening Wraps.

The Spanish influence, of which the French is not devoid, is transferring itself to evening wraps in gay Paris. French ladies are taking the Spanish designs and the Oriental designs and combining them to make some of the best-looking wraps that have been devised for many a long day. Women are accustomed to regard their evening wraps as the most colorful of their adornments, and by this new development of fashion, they will have not a job in regard to smart and becoming embellishment.

Spanish Combs Worn.

Reports that hats and gowns will be reminders of old Spain have come from good news in the transformation of Spanish combs. After a season of sale of these decorated combs last fall there was a sudden falling off in sales which left many manufacturers with large stocks on hand. They are turning them off now and adding more elaborately designed ones to their samples.

Miss Ruth Morgan and Mrs. William Straight.

The women of New York state who have been active in the movement for disarmament have consolidated and organized themselves into a body known as the New York Council for the Limitation of Armament. Here-before the women who were zealous in their efforts to minimize the causes of war worked independently through a number of organizations, but they now realize that in order to obtain far-reaching results it would be necessary to combine their forces and work through one central agency. Hence the formation of the New York Council, which will concentrate on educational public opinion as to the desirability of limitation of armaments as the best guarantee of peace. Photo shows (left) Miss Ruth Morgan, chairman of the council, and Mrs. William D. Straight, vice chairman.

Madariaga

He will endure through the ages as a great character, this cattle baron of the Argentine whom they called the Centaur because of the way he sat his horse.

A vigorous personality and, if you will, predatory and tyrannical over the thousands who worked his lands. But colorful: full-blooded and lusty, and blunt-spoken.

You will remember Madariaga vividly: because of these things, and because he first takes the center of the stage in the most astounding drama the motion picture has achieved:

The FOUR HORSEMEN of the APOCALYPSE

from the novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez adapted by June Mathis

A REX INGRAM PRODUCTION

It is no pale pastel of life, no timid miniature. The story is as vital and instinctively courageous as Madariaga himself. It has sweep and power and color. Ibanez, ever a writer of bold certainty, painted this, his biggest canvas, with an inspired surety transcendental even to himself.

No, it isn't a play, it's real folks and children at that, so just take time to read this article, for the sake of the story. "The Little House Next Door" is the new hospital at the Industrial Home. Doesn't interest you? O, yes it does! You like kiddies, don't you? It makes you feel queer in your heart when you have to think about kiddies who have no home, and no one to take care of them if they are sick, and no place to be if they are sick, doesn't it? If there are any such little folks here in our own county you would like to do something for them, wouldn't you? Then listen.

There has been and will be until nine o'clock this evening, a gala day at the Industrial Home—and by the way, though "Industrial Home" does sound a little institutional, the building doesn't look institutional, nothing about the place looks that way, least of all the children. It all looks "home."

Beginning at three o'clock today "company" began to arrive at The Home—there, that sounds better!—to see the new hospital of which everybody, from the littlest child to the most influential manager is proud. If you were not one of this afternoon's "company," do be this evening, for your own sake as well as for the sake of the unfortunate child-life in our county!

The Freeman reporter knew just what a big crowd there would be today so visited The Home yesterday afternoon. And such a "sprucing up," as was going on! Not by the grown-ups entirely either. The boys and girls were very busily and happily doing their part to have all the mischievous leaves swept up, the walks clean, and any other things about the place done that a boy or girl could do, for those boys and girls are indeed proud of their home, as well they may be.

As you go from the Home building, which is in "apple pie order," to the new hospital you notice at once that the drive-ways have been regraded or newly graded and re-graveled, and that the playground equipment of swings, bars, rings, see-saws, etc., has been refurbished.

Then as you come to the Highland and Clifton avenues side of the property, you find the quarantine building and the new hospital all smiling on the outside with a new coat of paint, that looks so inviting you just want to see how it looks inside. And as you put carefully wiped foot within, you are dead sure the place has been lifted bodily from "Spotless Town" to its present site! Former trees, now stunted or varnished woodwork and walls of an exquisitely cheerful shade of a soft rosy buff color smile at you on entrance.

And practical! You see that at the first glance for just to the right as the front door opens there is what is called the emergency room. By the way, all of the floors are of marble. In this emergency room are three inviting hospital cots, all made up with snowy, new bedding of the very best sort (as are all the cots). Here are movable hospital shelves—as in all of the rooms; a white enameled lavatory and toilet closet and the neatest arrangement for disposing of soiled clothing or cloths ever devised; a chute opened into a tiny trap door in the floor, that means the articles will slide instantly down into proper receptacles in the laundry in the basement. Isn't that clever? It means instant attention for accident or emergency.

Never mind the grown folks' end of the house just yet. On the second floor there are three rooms, all with plenty of windows, and walls of that lovely, cheery color, each containing three made up hospital cots, a dresser, hospital shelf-tables, children's Morris chairs and other chairs, etc. Also on the second floor is a miniature operating room, with little operating table, two hospital cots, good sized drug and towel closet, scrub sink, etc., just perfect in its equipment of stationary fixtures. Moreover there is a white enameled bath room that will surely make any child know for certain that cleanliness is next to godliness. Besides the low-down tub and toilet, there is a lavatory, a wall mirror, which proves to be the door of the medicine closet, etc.

And the attic! If it ever is necessary, there may, at some future date, be "another story" in more ways than one. At present it is a store room while a part of it is finished off in approved hospital fashion as a room with two cots in it and all the other necessary furnishings. And a right cozy room it is.

So it will be seen that at least fourteen children can most comfortably be cared for at one time in the hospital.

Now for the grown-up, or working end of the hospital. Suppose we begin with the cellar and ascend. In the cellar is the splendid hot air furnace, and it has been planned by the managers to have at least a small fire in that furnace all of the time—except, of course, the heat of summer—so that an instant notice a sick or injured child can be taken in without waiting for the place to be "hot up." There is a laundry with two stationary tubs, and the laundry chutes opening on either side of these into clothes hampers, as well as a special ironing stove. Hot water for the entire building, from bottom to top, is furnished by a special hot water heater, which will also be kept on the job, ready for emergency. Then there are supply rooms and coal bins in the cellar. The whole place has the most modern and pleasant electric lighting.

On the first floor is a good-sized and well-furnished kitchen, with a wonderful gas range, kitchen cabinet, fully equipped, table and chairs, while the kitchen closet has almost full shelves of utensils. A butter's pantry and serving closet opens from the kitchen into the narrow dining room, which is exceedingly attractive. In this room and the living room are hard wood floors. The dining room is furnished with round table, chairs, china and glass cabinet, containing pretty sets of dishes, small buffet, all of material out of a single but very artistic design, with handsome new-trimmed rug on the floor. Windows make the room very pleasant. Just to the left of the front door, in the living or reception—no, living room is better—prettily furnished with cushioned rattan furniture, table, book shelves, etc., and made cheery also, with windows. Rug of the same design as those in the dining room are on the floor. Over this room is the newest two rooms, too dainty and pleasant for words. There are two most comfortable cots, white enameled dresser, table, comfortable chairs, all white enameled, with a roomy closet. And throughout the building there is ample closet room.

Can you possibly imagine anything more complete in the way of a miniature hospital where sick children will almost be glad to be sick in order to have a chance to get well there? Yet, perfect as it all is, the managers would be only too thankful if it would act as a complete insurance against sickness and accident, even to the point of not being used on a hospital. Moreover, with some thirty-five children in this family, the need of the hospital is of almost daily if not daily occurrence. Just see what might have been saved last year, when sickness struck the Home, and in spite of the best of care, so many of the children had to be kept out of school for months, as the trouble spread because there was no hospital in which to carry the first case.

Now where do you come in on this most appealing philanthropy? Well, that is still up to you. To be sure, you can act at the very least, when your interest in going to the Home this evening and seeing the place—the Home as well as the hospital—for yourself. And then, in spite of the splendid generosity of many, many people, there is still a sum to be raised to clear the place of indebtedness. You might give even a little something—perhaps as a memorial a more substantial sum—toward wiping out that indebtedness so that it will start out on its merry-go-round, quite free of all debt. How about it?

There is just one thing to mention, which you might not be able to see this evening, and that is the bath which stands on part of the extra half-acre of land included in this purchased property. It has all been made clean and ship-shape as a storehouse, and—Oh! how this makes the boys' eyes shine!—carpenter shop. So Mr. Man, if you have one bit of a boy's heart left under your waistcoat, just make a little contribution of good tools for that carpenter shop. For the birch and tool closet, not to mention several lads are waiting for the same.

Trails, "The Little House Next Door," has never thus come into its own.

Method in Seemingly Madmen.

Seven-year-old Jimmie came to school very early in March wearing a straw hat. It was so noticeable that the children teased him, but still he wore it. The principal himself was amused. "I guess you're helping the straw hat along," she laughed to him.

"No, ma'am," he returned solemnly. "I'm helping myself. A straw hat is lighter and easier to tip to the teachers than a wool one."

A BONFIRE PERMIT FIRST

Motorman Tim Hannon of the division of the trolley road remarked before "the leaves are falling" and as a result there are bonfires being started over the city. Before a bonfire is enjoyed, however, the city requires that one first obtain a permit from the chief of the department. Attention has called to the fact that there are boys who make a practice of lighting along the street and a lighted match into a pile of leaves that had been piled up by the householder. Some cases this has been on white streets and is liable to injure the pavement. The city is also subject to arrest if it is found that the police are keeping their eyes open to stop the boys, the parents had best warn their offspring.

The street department has all of the leaves from the business and along the main thoroughfares. As leaves make fertilizer there is a demand on part of many for a load of them, and where it can be done a request is granted.

CONNELLY.

Oct. 26.—The Epworth society of the Connelly M. E. Church held a Halloween social in the school room of the church Friday evening, October 28th. It was a very successful affair and everyone who came in enjoyed the program of the evening. Games, singing and fortune telling were the order of the night. Refreshments will also be served. Everyone came with the exception of a jolly and social good time.

PORT WEN.

Port Wen, Oct. 26.—There was a large attendance at the evangelistic service in the Methodist Church, Monday evening. The Rev. B. M. Deniston, pastor of the Saugerties Methodist Church, delivered a masterly sermon in "Philip the Evangelist." He presented a picture that will linger long in the memory of those who were there. Mrs. Raymond Howe sang sweetly a solo, entitled, "Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me." To Rev. L. A. Robbins, pastor of Connelly Methodist Church, and a large delegation of his church, attended the services, also the Rev. and Mrs. Grant E. Robinson of Delhi, were present. The entire service was uplifting to everyone.

The Rev. and Mrs. Grant E. Robinson of Delhi, are guests of Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. George P. Griffin, on Hamilton street.

The Community Evangelistic service held in the Methodist Episcopal Church will be in charge of the Rev. George Gulick, pastor of the Reformed Church of Ulster Park. These services are very interesting and helpful. Everyone is most cordially invited to attend.

THERE IS VIGOR IN RICH BLOOD

Pepto-Mangan in Liquid or Tablets—A Blood Builder.

Vigor and strength have as their base rich red blood. Blood is rich when there are plenty of red corpuscles. They are the tiny red cells which swim in blood and give it its color. Without red corpuscles blood would be white. When overwork, or strain, or illness weakens the blood, it diminishes the number of red cells. Without a sufficient number of red cells the blood becomes watery, the body weak. Vigor and strength fall off, so that physical life diminishes like a fading plant. The physical pleasures of eating and sleeping and exercise lose all attraction. There is no zest in living.

After Gude's Pepto-Mangan has been taken for a while the blood becomes rich with red cells. They help to nourish the entire system. With good blood at work there is a great difference in living. Eating, sleeping and exercise are enjoyed. All druggists sell Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

"Let's be fishermen," Jim exclaimed after his two days of basketry, and he waited anxiously for Daly's reply. He and Bill had decided the night before that the best way to make improvements in the shack was to get the owner out of the way first, and then work. Bill had insisted that Jim's job be that of a fisherman and companion of Daly, while he did the repairing.

"There's salmon in the river and speckled trout in the brooks. If we have luck, we can salt down all we don't eat, for the winter."

After some hesitation Daly consented, and with their boots pulled high and their lines well baited, the two men walked up stream, leaping over the rocks, stopping beside their tempting bits of bait for the timid fish who left their shadowy hiding places to slip into the clear water—to their doom.

The men ate their lunch by the brook side, toasting several of the trout over the red logs. Then they continued upward, till the sun got behind the tall evergreens and Jim suggested home.

Daly was fagged out, and when he reached the shack he made no objections to Bill's improvements, but ate his supper and crawled into his bunk—to fall asleep immediately.

"Best thing in the world for him," grinned Jim. "Good food, good exercise, good healthy sleep."

On the second day Jim took Daly out on the river, where they cast for salmon all day long. Playing with the sporty captives, who fought and schemed with amazing skill to free themselves from the hooks was strenuous work. Daly soon tired of the sport, keeping his line overboard, but passing it to Jim when he felt a tug at its end.

Jim was playing with his own line when Daly yelled, "I've got one too. Get it Jim, pull him in." Two salmon to be landed by a man not skilled in the art was some task, and Jim realized it at once.

"Better take your own line back. Let it hang in the water. If you haven't the strength to fight. Gosh, look at this bird struggle, the silver beauty!"

Daly reached for his line. Jim pulled back, the salmon shot away from the canoe, and the next moment Jim felt himself being tossed out of his seat, struggling wildly in ice cold water. Instantly he forgot salmon, lines and drifting canoe, but only of Daly whose head was disappearing under water. He got to him before he had sunk completely out of sight, and managed to hold him a few inches above the surface.

"Don't be afraid. Kick your feet, sort of tread water, you know. I will be help keep you up."

"C-can't. Line all wound around my feet. C-can't move."

"Help. Help." Jim cupped his hand over his mouth, and called until he saw that Bill's attention had been attracted. Then he struck out for the shore. It was harder work than he had anticipated. Daly was like a heavy log, and the water was so bitterly cold that Jim's limbs were numb. He kept taking strokes mechanically, however, and after a while, realized that someone was pulling him onward.

With Bill's help they got Daly on shore, and into the shack, where with hot water, drink, and stiff rubbing, he was made comfortable and put to bed.

"Where are your salmon?" asked Bill, after Jim had changed into dry clothes.

"Ah, forget the fish. We're here!" cried Jim.

LINEUP FOR "Y" CAMPAIGN WORK

The work at the Y. M. C. A. is increasing in interest as the days go on. Now that cold weather has practically set in, new members are constantly joining and the classes are rapidly filling up. It has been the plan of the association to accept all applications insofar as possible at this time of the year. October and November always prove to be good membership months.

William C. DeWitt, who has been chairman of the membership work for some time, has selected George C. Dressel as campaign chairman for the week from October 26 to November 2. Inclusive. Clinton S. Studebaker

This is a Studebaker Year

For the first eight months of 1921, our sales of Studebaker Cars were 41% greater than for the same period of 1920, and 101% greater than for the same period of 1919. For the same period, our sales of Repair Parts were 13% less than in 1920, and 3% less than in 1919.

On September 1st, 1921, there were approximately 116,000 more Studebaker Cars in operation than two years ago, and yet our parts business is 3% less than it was in 1919. This proves conclusively that—

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any cars of whatever price.

NOT the CHEAPEST TAXI SERVICE!

The KINGSTON TAXI SERVICE (formerly the "Schryver" Taxi Service) with its New Enclosed Limousine Taxicabs, its handsomely uniformed chauffeurs, prompt, courteous Day and Night Service, is NOT THE CHEAPEST but is conceded to be the BEST Taxicab Service in this section of the State of New York. Strangers tell us this.

Your Wife, Mother, Daughter or any Woman is as safe alone in our Taxicabs at any time of the night as though she were with a male escort. We pride ourselves upon such a service. Our chauffeurs share in this pride and we know the public appreciates our careful service though it is NOT THE CHEAPEST. Our list of patrons is growing.

Our Taxicabs are daily inspected as to safety brakes and lights. Windows are polished and their interior cleaned after each trip. They are warm at night and during unpleasant weather.

This High-Class Taxi Service costs money to furnish and is appreciated even though it is NOT THE CHEAPEST.
